DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Tracy et al, US Patent No. 5,979,757.

Tracy et al disclose a method and system for presenting item information using a portable data terminal, the portable terminal comprising: a label reader 704 for reading information from a label; a communication unit 702 for communicating to one or more service nodes 40, 42, 50; a controller 701, coupled the label reader, the label reader send request to on or more of the service nodes through the communication unit, receive an information response from the service node, and display the information response, wherein the request and the response are formatted as document capable of being exchanged in a distributed decentralized environment (see col. 5, line 25+; figures 1-3).

Re claim 2, wherein the information response includes competitive product information of a product associated with the label (see col. 9).

Re claims 3, 8, wherein the controller is further arrange to allow profile information to be access by a service node to engage in a commercial transaction (see col.9, lie 6+).

Re claim 4, wherein the apparatus and the service node communicate in a client/server network (see figure 1).

Art Unit: 2876

Re claims 5 and 6, wherein the documents comprise XML document expressed as SOAP messages (see col. 10, lines 33-38).

Re claim 7, the scanner inherently a light sensor, serving as context sensor, coupled to the controller.

Re claim 9, wherein the controller allows a user to complete an on-line transaction (see col. 8, line 19+).

Re claim 10, wherein the controller allows a user to adjust the read information from a label and resending a request to a service node (see col. 8, line 54+).

Re claims 11-18, the limitations have been discussed above.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Roslak, US Patent No. 5,825,002, discloses a device and method for secure data updates in a self-checkout system. Sloane, US Patent No. 5,918,211, discloses a method and apparatus for promoting products and influencing consumer purchasing decision at the point-of-purchase. Goodwin, II et al, US Patent No. 5,943,654, disclose a method of displaying promotional messages by electronic price labels. Sloane et al, US patent No. 6,434,530, disclose an interactive shopping system with mobile apparatus.
